Concerning Usher's new Electronic Logs....

Opinion

For what it's worth, here's my take on things. 41 years, that's how long the Usher name has been on the side of my truck. Yea, think about that one. Hey, not many people in this company can say they were around even before Bill or Alan started working in the company.

That's important, and here's why. Back in the day, I worked for Bill Usher Sr. and if there's one thing I've learned over my 41 years, it's this – the Ushers take their time when it comes to making some of the biggest decisions that have the greatest impact on the company, especially their drivers.

As a 41 year veteran of this company, let me assure you of one thing. If they believe now is the time to embrace the new technology of E-Logs, then I'm onboard as you should be. I did not get where I am today with this company by finding fault in everything. I got where I am because I've put my trust in their ability to run a very successful company for nearly 80 years – half of which I've been a part of.

When they said we're going to electronic logs in all the company trucks, my comment was, "What about the Owner-Operators?" They're not making us put them on our trucks until it's actually mandated. However, my comment to that was, "Can I put it in my truck when you put it in the company trucks?"

This is another one of those time-tested Usher decisions and I know it hasn't been easy, but if I can support it, anyone can. After all, I'm working on nearly a half century with this company. It hasn't all been roses by any stretch, but the Usher family has been a tremendous support to me and my family. The least I can do now is support them in this major decision by giving an endorsement from an Owner-Operator's perspective.
